

ERICA CANELA

Dr. Erica Canela is an early modern social historian, specialising in English Quaker history and the psychological trauma of the Civil Wars.

She holds a Ph.D from the University of Birmingham and has taught early modern English history in both university and non-academic settings. She is the recipient of several awards for her work in Quaker history.

Erica co-authored a chapter in the anthology Quakerism in the Atlantic World in the Long Eighteenth Century (published by Pennsylvania State University Press in 2021) and is writing two volumes for the Brill Research Perspectives in Quaker Studies series on early Quaker history to be published by De Gruyter Brill in 2025 and 2026.

Her book Zealous: A Darker Side of the Quakers will be out in the UK and USA in Autumn 2025 (Pen & Sword History)
