

MORGEN BAILEY

Based in Buckinghamshire, England, Morgen Bailey ("Morgen with an E") is a freelance editor, author, tutor, mentor, blogger, podcaster, WI/U3A speaker, competition judge and former Writer's Forum magazine Competitive Edge columnist. She also runs a free monthly 50-word competition.

As well as full-length and shorter fiction, Morgen's 40+ books also include writer's block workbooks, writer's ideas diaries, and an editing guide.

Morgen has edited over 300 novels, non-fiction books and short stories for publishers and authors directly since 2005. Details and testimonials on <https://morgenbailey.com/editor>.

She has attended many UK conferences and festivals and has hosted workshops at various venues including NAWG Festival (editing), Troubador's Self-publishing Conference (competitions and podcasting) and Buckingham U3A (creative writing).

Before moving to Buckinghamshire, Morgen hosted various one-day, five/ten-week creative writing courses for Northamptonshire County Council's Adult Learning sector from 2014-2018.

To help other writers, Morgen recently created a new academy (<https://mb-creative-writing-academy.teachable.com>) where she hosts live Zoom Q&A sessions, interviews established authors, provides pre-recorded video tutorials, and offers 1:1 mentoring and group workshop sessions.

Like her, her blog, <http://morgenbailey.wordpress.com>, is consumed by all things literary. Her website is <http://morgenbailey.com>, and she is 'morgenwriteruk' on social media.